The 12th IBIT Conference on Event Safety

IBIT27 addresses relevant and current topics in the planning and delivery of events, as well as broader questions relating to planning for and managing crowds. National and international experts from academia and practice come together for expert talks, panel discussions, and workshops. The conference is aimed at everyone who engages with the topic, whether on a practical or a theoretical level.

Under the motto KNOWLEDGE. NETWORK. RESPONSIBILITY., more than 400 participants will once again gather in 2027 for more than 30 talks and panel discussions, along with a large conference party. This once again confirms the IBIT Conference's position as the leading platform for exchange, knowledge transfer, and discussion on relevant questions of event safety and crowd safety.

The 12th IBIT Conference on Event Safety

Discussing solutions, highlighting potential for change

The IBIT Conference on Event Safety has become a forum where important questions are addressed constructively, critically, and openly, and where relevant, applicable, interdisciplinary, and cross-organisational solutions are discussed for participants. It highlights potential for shaping the future and builds important networks for continuing the discussions and exchanging knowledge.

Programme 2027 Key Topics

The topic strands of IBIT27 include:

- When the heat catches us off guard: weather, climate, climate adaptation
- Traffic, mobility, and the eternal challenge of the last mile
- Modern safety planning 2027
- Best practice & life hacks: learning from others and practice
- And if it does go wrong after all?
- Old and new threat situations
- Legal considerations
- Digitalisation and AI: OR “Not everything that glitters is gold”

The Pre-Conference Day*

IBIT27 is accompanied by an extensive supporting programme that already begins the day before!

Professionals' Meeting

As is tradition, graduates of the Professional Certificate in Event Safety & Security Management kick off IBIT27 with the "Professionals' Meeting," where they exchange views on the practical implementation of what they learned in the course, on current developments and challenges – complemented by elements of a command-staff exercise.

* These are paid offerings that are not included in the conference ticket.

The Pre-Conference Day*

BehördenConnect: Event Safety

From authority to authority — what we can learn from one another.

Due to the excellent response to its launch, BehördenConnect: Event Safety returns for another round. The networking day once again offers a platform for open exchange among public authorities, along with expert input on event safety.

BehördenConnect 2027 will address, among other things, the following topics:

- Vehicle access protection: an attempt at a matrix to support a standardized approach
- What happens when “it” happens? Dealing with (media-heavy) incidents and their impact
- Cooperation within the coordination group.

In addition, there will be spotlights on various events, an “XPerience Lab” that links theoretical requirements with practical experience (e.g., “what does ‘2 people/m²’ actually mean?”), as well as ample room for (partly facilitated) network-strengthening.

Participation fee: €149 plus VAT

*The networking day is aimed at professionals working in public authorities and representatives of municipal marketing organisations who are active in the field of event coordination and safety (including regulatory/public order offices, transport authorities, fire departments, and police).

The Pre-Conference Day*

Get together

The “Get Together” on the evening before IBIT27 is a long-standing tradition.

It offers the chance to network in a relaxed setting – some come for a drink, others stay for dinner, and many stay for the whole evening.

We look forward to relaxed conversation and to growing our network.

Food and drinks are covered by participants themselves. That said, a round or two is still reliably on IBIT.

No registration required.

* These are paid offerings that are not included in the conference ticket.

The Supporting Programme

The Innovation Forum

The Innovation Forum is a platform for presenting new ideas, inventions, or product developments. Under the critical eyes of attendees and potential users, new offerings are presented and discussed – often followed by intense discussion afterwards. Some of the ideas presented in recent years are now in practical use – not least thanks to the industry interest shown and the positive response experienced at the Innovation Forum.

More information on getting involved with the Innovation Forum can be found on page 16.

The Supporting Programme

The Stadium Tour

Technical stadium tours are part of every conference – it's always interesting to get a behind-the-scenes look.

The tour focuses on safety aspects as well as the infrastructural handling of events at the stadium.

The Party “We’ve Earned It”

The party on the evening of the first day is a fixed feature of the IBIT Conference. Under the motto “We’ve earned it!”, the party offers great food and an excellent drinks selection in a relaxed atmosphere for conversation, discussion, and networking.

The Supporting Programme

World Café

The World Café is a discussion format built around a prepared topic. The aim is to discuss openly and freely in a “relaxed coffee-house atmosphere,” discovering new perspectives on familiar and new questions. The method was developed by US business consultants Juanita Brown and David Isaacs – we have adapted it slightly for our purposes.

Previous World Café topics have included:

- Digitalisation
- Sustainability
- Morals & Ethics
- International Networking
- Knowledge Transfer between Research & Practice

#ibitchance

Sharing Knowledge, Securing Education

With the #ibitchance initiative, we support organisations with limited training budgets, initiatives, and non-profit associations. To make it easier for you to access current expertise in event safety, we subsidise one seminar place per seminar as well as a set number of places at IBIT27, covering 50% of the regular cost.

Simply send an informal email with the subject line #ibitchance to bildung@ibit.eu, describing who you are, which offer you would like to take up, and why the subsidy is important to you.

Sponsoring and Presentation

IBIT27 is the only conference in Germany dedicated exclusively to the safety of large crowds, both at events and in other contexts (e.g. crowded spaces). The IBIT Conference brings together an exclusively specialist audience, guaranteeing an advertising presence with no wasted reach. The roughly 400 attendees regularly come from a mix of organisations and countries — including public authorities, the events industry (planners, organisers, operators), and universities, among others.

The networking area serves as both a lounge and exhibition space, making it the central hub of the conference. Attendees, exhibitors, everyone comes together at the heart of the IBIT Conference. Ideas, products, and offerings can therefore be placed right where the action is — the combined networking area creates the best possible opportunities to connect with everyone present.

A wide range of presentation opportunities are available: from sponsoring and product presentations to material partnerships — we welcome your questions and suggestions at fachtagung@ibit.eu.

What Others Say

Céline Kühnel
Managing Director
eps deutschland

“ The IBIT team has been doing important work for years. Only by continually engaging with the topic of event safety can we best protect people. As a leading international infrastructure provider for major events and an IBIT supporter from the very beginning, we regularly make use of the conference to share our experience with other professionals and to exchange ideas.”

Ferdinand Erben
Head of Operations
Munich Security Services

“In times of change, nothing is more important than exchange across all levels. For many years, the IBIT Conference has been a meeting point for service providers, event organisers, and public authority representatives – making it the ideal place to drive change.”

Prof. Jürgen Gerlach
Bergische Universität
Wuppertal

“The IBIT Conference is THE conference on event safety in the German-speaking world. For me, it’s a highlight of the year, because it’s where I meet the concentrated expertise of academia and practice, and learn key new insights from the events industry. And since the atmosphere is always friendly and welcoming, I always look forward to it!”

Adrian Zemp
Zurich City Police

“ The IBIT Conference provides the perfect setting for professionals from public authorities and offices, as well as from the security and events industries, to exchange views on current topics. Across various topic strands, new insights, tools, and best-practice approaches to event safety are presented or discussed with practitioners in panel discussions. The perfect opportunity, then, to expand your own expertise and build new networking contacts.”

Sustainability

As every year, we at IBIT are committed to improving things. As every year, we're again trying to bring new ideas to life – so stay tuned. What you can count on for sure are vegan and, wherever possible, regionally sourced meals, as well as our Share the Meal Challenge. Over the past two years, conference participants have donated around 1,350 meals – and we think there's clearly room to do even more!

The Tokens instead of Goodies campaign will also return at IBIT27: instead of bags full of flyers and “stuff,” you'll receive tokens that can be exchanged for donations to non-profit organisations.

The IBIT Trees are also back: as a “thank you” to speakers, native hedges and shrubs are offered, which can either be planted in your own garden or donated to Rote Scheune e. V. (the animal sanctuary run by Sabine Funk and Ralf Zimme), where, since the campaign began, nearly 300 additional metres of hedge for birds and insects have already been created. The Deutsche Bahn event ticket is especially important to us. As before, travel remains the biggest source of climate impact within the conference – and we want to change that! We would like to see at least 50 % of all attendees (!) arrive by train. If you choose to travel using the DB event ticket, you'll receive a small goodie from us on site.

Sustainability

We also welcome your involvement, commitment, and support here:

- Distribution of Goodies

We pay attention to sustainability and fair manufacturing (and yes, we also reserve the right to decline items).

- Supporting the “Tokens instead of Goodies” Campaign

You're welcome to double or triple the donation value of a raffle ticket... or to provide attractive prizes that motivate participants to buy additional tickets.

- Supporting the Path to Climate Neutrality

This is easy too: help us plant trees.

The MAGAZINE for Safety Culture

Published by the International Education and Training Centre for Event Safety, the MAGAZINE for Safety Culture reports four times a year on current developments, challenges, and insights in the field of event safety, presents the latest findings from safety research, and helps prepare readers for practice. The MAGAZINE for Safety Culture is aimed not only at researchers and experts, but, with its broad range of feature articles, commentaries, reports, and interviews, addresses everyone involved in the safe planning and delivery of events.
